SOLDIER BILL TO SENATE

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — With the tax provisions eliminated, the soldiers' bonus bill was reported to the senate today by the finance committee. The cash bonus would be payable January 1, 1925.

The question of taxes to meet the cost of the bill was left for the next congress.

Aside from striking out the tax provision, the committee made little change in the house bill, retaining the five options of a cash bonus based on the length of service, deferred certificates, farm and home aid and vocational training.

$21,000 PAY FOR 6 DAYS

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — John R. Farr, Republican, of Scranton, Pa., took his seat in the house today as representative of the tenth Pennsylvania district as the result of action by the house last night in voting to unseat Patrick McLane, also of Scranton, who has held his seat through the present congress. Mr. Farr will draw $21,000 salary and incidental expenses for the six days he will serve in the house.

After the house voted 161 to 121 to remove McLane, the new member was immediately declared elected and was sworn in just before midnight. The proceedings against McLane were based on charges that he had violated the corrupt practices act and also that there had been wholesale election fraud in his return to congress.

The princely remuneration that goes with Representative Farr's six days of service, approximating a rate of $3,500 a day, results from a computation of salary and incidental allowances to cover the entire two year period of the congress to which the house has held him to have been rightfully elected. While McLane also has drawn pay for the entire two years, lacking the six days remaining of the present congress, he is requested to make no refund, the single seat costing the government in effect almost twice the stipulated figure.

DENBY IN CONFERENCE WITH PRESIDENT ELECT

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — Edwin Denby of Detroit, once an ordinary sub, recently a sergeant of marines and unless the official state of the coming administration is overthrown, secretary of the navy-to-be, talked over naval policies with President-elect Harding, today in a conference that was expected to finally seal his appointment to the cabinet. It was understood the discussion ranged all the way from Mr. Denby's qualifications for the post to the naval building program which the present administration has recommended and which Mr. Harding has asked the Republican congress to carry out. Neither the president-elect nor his conferees would comment on the subject matter of the talk, however, and the only official word passed out was that Mr. Denby's selection had not yet been definitely closed.

NEW YORK — Warrant for the arrest and deportation order against Ludwig C. A. K. Marten, recently deported Russian Soviet "ambassador" cancelled, his counsel, Charles Recht, announced.

TAX OF $10 PUT ON CLERKS

BEATTYVILLE, Ky. — Every one who enjoys the protection and facilities provided by the city of Beattyville must pay for it, is the motto of the present city administration, according to Mayor J. B. McGuire. The statement was made as a result of the recent passage by the city council of an ordinance which placed a license tax of $10 per year on each clerk, bookkeeper, stenographer, railroad agent, or operator, electrician, bark cashier, and in fact virtually every occupation.

The extent of the licenses required has caused much comment.

"The recently enacted license ordinance was passed under Article 181 of the Kentucky constitution and Section 3637, sub-section 4 of the Kentucky Statutes, where power is given cities of the fifth class to provide for the payment of a license tax on the various trades, occupations and professions," says Mayor McGuire. "We think this power broad enough to permit the taxing of clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers, agents and operators and we see no reason why the same should not be taxed for pursuing their various vocations in such a city."

"It is true that this taxing of clerks, stenographers, etc., is a new question and it seems that heretofore these occupations have escaped the license tax but we take it that it was the object of the legislative body in enacting section 3637, sub-section 4 of the Kentucky statutes to require all persons, whatever remunerative occupations in life, to pay their just proportion of all taxes for the upkeep of their government."

CITY EMPLOYEES WAGE BOOST CONTINUED; PROTEST O. E. VALUATION

Had not the council taken definite action at the adjourned meeting Friday night, city employees who were granted wage boosts six months ago have their pay revert back to the old basis March first.

Council voted to extend the present salaries three months. The Beman-Thomas Co. expert engineers, Columbus, will be brought to Lima to check up the figures submitted by an expert of the state public utilities commission on the valuation of Ohio Electric property, which councilmen declare are too high. Future light and power rates of the Ohio Electric company will be based upon the amount of the valuation.

A committee of council, with the mayor, will be named at the next meeting, to cooperate with the building department in the resumption of building operations.

'RIGHTS' OR JAIL DEMAND

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Senator Borah, representative of Idaho, today introduced a bill proposing fines, imprisonment and removal from office of any federal official found guilty of unlawfully trespassing on the rights of free speech, free press and assembly granted by the Constitution.

In the drafting of the bill, it is said, Senator Borah had the advice and assistance of lawyers, some of them formerly connected with the department of justice. The measure will be supported, it was announced, by the National Popular Government League, the organization which recently attacked Attorney General Palmer for department of justice raids last year. State and municipal officers as well as federal officers, would come within its terms.

Introducing the measure Senator Borah said:

"RIGHTS CHALLENGED"

"The civil rights of the private citizen have of late often been challenged and many times wholly denied. This condition has been on the increase for the last quarter of a century. More and more there has been a disregard of the great guarantees of the Federal Constitution so far as the rights of the private citizen are concerned. The fact in support of this judgment are at hand and overwhelming. Men in authority and their agents, have made arrests without warrant, broken in to private dwellings without authority, and practiced brutality toward citizens guilty of no offense. The private citizen under such conditions is practically without recourse. This practice seems to be greatly on the increase. Lawlessness in public office and in public places fattens by what it feeds upon."

PROTECTION AIMED

"I do not think we get anywhere, however, by merely criticizing particular individuals or by denouncing for a day a particular public officer. In fact, when such practices have become ingrained in our system, no particular officer is individually responsible. The situation deserves general consideration and permanent treatment. I have therefore introduced this bill, which is designed to protect the private citizen in his constitutional rights, particularly against the arbitrary and lawless acts of public officers. It seems to me that it fairly gets at the situation and would help greatly to remedy this growing evil. In any event, it will serve as a measure around which possibly a better measure may be constructed.

"There is no one whose duty it is to be more scrupulous of the obligations of the Constitution or more respectful of the Constitutional rights of the citizen than the officer entrusted for a brief season with great authority. Lawlessness among those whose duty it is to enforce and uphold the law breeds lawlessness, and not only that, it begets distrust of and disaffection for the Government itself among the people generally. A high and sincere regard for law, a profound respect for our Constitution must begin with those who are entrusted with the execution of the law. Obedience to the law is the primal pillar upon which free institutions rest. When this spirit of obedience is broken down, law itself becomes in a sense mockery."

E. DEBS' LAWYER BARRED

ATLANTA, Ga. — (By Associated Press) — Samuel H. Castleton, counsel for Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, announced today he had received a telegram from Attorney General Palmer declining his request to be permitted to visit the prisoner who is serving a sentence here.

Debs, according to his attorney, is held incommunicado in Atlanta prison as a result of criticisms of President Wilson in a recent statement issued thru his attorney. Castleton said he had telegraphed a protest to the attorney general and had received the following reply:

"Your telegram 24th. You will not be permitted to visit prisoner Eugene V. Debs."

RECORDS BURNED

City Hall of Oklahoma City Damaged $300,000 by Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — (By Associated Press) — Firemen today continued to pour water upon the smoldering ruins of the city hall shortly before last midnight and caused damage estimated at $300,000 before the fire was under control. Many valuable records were destroyed or damaged by water. The basement and parts of two or three floors of the building were destroyed.

CLASH WITH THE COSTA RICANS

PANAMA — (By Associated Press) — Hostilities have begun between Panama and Costa Rican forces in the vicinity of Coto, on the Pacific end of the frontier between the two countries, it is said, in unofficial advices received here.

Formal declaration of war had not been made up until last night.

FRAUD RING IS BARED

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Systematic frauds by which Montgomery, Ward and Company, mail order house, was defrauded of thousands of dollars thru a conspiracy of employees and customers, became known today thru the arrest of Charles Steinbach, a messenger for the company, 18 years old, and three men who posed as customers. Officials of the company say Steinbach understood the company's methods so well he was able to put thru fraudulent orders bearing forged approval of sales managers, which were later made the basis of claims for refund by the supposed customers.

One agent of the ring, which officials believed they have uncovered, lived as far away as California, it was said. The fraud was operated for a long time, according to Carl R. Gray, Jr., member of the firm until the company's checking of orders disclosed that the shipments were sent to persons who had never paid for the goods. Company officials said the losses would total many thousands of dollars, but could not be definitely fixed without a complete check of accounts.

LONDON IS NERVOUS OVER "MIXED JURIES"

LONDON — The jury was locked up for two days, during which time Rupert was able to win Gladys' "yes." This is the sort of thing we may have in this opening era of mixed juries.

The Probate Divorce and Admiralty Division introduced women as jurors on January 25, and the Old Bailey made the innovation even sooner.

All kinds of potentialities are conjured by the new order. Separated husbands and wives who chance to be brought together on jury duty may "make it up," or husbands may begin dangerous flirtations with fair colleagues.

Romances may be begun and broken on juries of the future.

BISCUIT-MAKING IS FEMININE PORTION OF CABINET

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — Biscuit-making, pansy-raising, good road building, metal-lurgy, education and child development, rather than "society," will constitute the dominant interest of the feminine portion of the Harding cabinet.

Inquiry by the United Press today revealed that while the "Mrs. Secretaries" and their families possess all the qualifications necessary to social success, the natural inclinations of most of them are distinctly "homey" or avocational.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Harding, the social side of official life in Washington is expected to show more gaiety than at any time since the Roosevelt administration, because of her proven ability as a hostess, but the feeling is growing that the hopes of those who counted upon a continuous four years' round of pleasure will be dashed.

Taking the departmental posts in order of their rank the cabinet ladies present the following pictures:

Mrs. Charles E. Hughes — Wellesley graduate. One of their three children, Catharine, also an alumna of that college. Mrs. Hughes is conservative, has simple tastes and is more devoted to educational work than society.

Treasury — Andrew J. Mellon; unmarried.

War — Mrs. John W. Weeks. She has been extremely popular in the Washington social set for many years and is considered one of the most cultured women in the capital. She is a member of several clubs, is fond of bridge and is widely traveled.

Justice — Mrs. Harry M. Daugherty has been an invalid for 15 years and the new attorney general is not planning on establishing a home here.

Post Office — Mrs. Will Hayes has been a suffrage advocate from the days when it was considered "disgraceful." She accompanied her husband to the national convention in Chicago and mingled with the women there. She prefers caring for her young son to society.

Navy — Mrs. Edwin Denby has been active in Detroit society. She is the mother of two children.

Interior — Mrs. A. B. Fall, altho a member of capitol society for years, has never been swept off her feet by it, and like Three Rivers, N. M., she is an authority on New Mexican history and is interested in good roads.

Agriculture — Mrs. Henry C. Wallace is a garden enthusiast and a specialist in pansy raising. She is also a famous cook. The late Theodore Roosevelt praised her breakfast biscuits while in Des Moines on his last tour. She is a member of several clubs and has six children, all grown.

Commerce — Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended Stanford University at the same time as her husband. She is a graduate mining engineer and has aided Hoover in preparing several important books on metallurgy. She has never cared much for society. She has two boys, now in school in California.

Labor — Mrs. James L. Davis' social activities have been confined mostly to the woman's branch of the L. O. O. F., of which organization her husband is the head. She has two children.

INSURANCE CONGRESS OPENS AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND — Approximately six hundred insurance salesmen of Ohio attended the Southern Ohio Life Underwriters Sales Congress, which met here today.

The congress opened with the addresses by Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald and Orville Thompson of Dallas, Texas, president of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

The convention closes with a banquet tonight.

TALK ON IRELAND HERE TONIGHT

Lord Mayor of Cork Arrives in Lima Saturday

TELLS INTERESTING STORY

Received by Committees of Prominent Lima Men

"I am a native-born citizen of the city of Cork, Ireland," Donald O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of that city, said to a newspaperman upon his arrival in Lima Saturday afternoon, for an address at Memorial Hall Saturday evening, bringing a story of conditions as they now exist on the Emerald Isle.

"I am the duly elected Lord Mayor of Cork, and 29 years old and before my election was managing director of the Atlantic Cable Co., a general transatlantic shipping agency," the interesting visitor informed the reporter. O'Callaghan was met by a delegation of citizens appointed to receive him, including Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, J. W. Halldahl, Sam. Westcott, S. Klumbach, John. Lippincott, J. R. Kaufman, John. Galvin, Dr. W. J. Neville, Dr. M. A. Wagner, J. R. Dugan, Judge Wm. Klinger, E. H. Curtis, J. J. Woodcock, J. E. Sullivan, George Bayley, J. W. Beall, J. H. O'Connor, F. W. Ingalls, Peter Thompson, and others.

Representing the Lima division of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic in the reception to Mayor O'Callaghan are L. J. Hensley, J. P. Neville, Jim Henry, J. M. O'Connor, P. J. Sullivan, George Shannahan, John. O'Neill, J. E. Dugan, Thomas Phelan.

The interesting visitor was welcomed to Lima by Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, Hon. J. W. Halldahl, president Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

TO BE DINNER GUEST
Mayor O'Callaghan will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given at the Elks' Home at 6 p. m. and will meet the members of the debating club of the Elks' college, that body seeking information concerning conditions in Ireland.

"Subsequent to my election as Lord Mayor and my resignation as Cork, was and still am, chairman of the Cork city council," the visitor stated. "For many months, prior to my election, efforts were made by the military forces of Great Britain to apprehend and arrest me. Frequent raids were made upon my office and my private residence."

"I was elected chairman of the Cork city council on May 1, 1920. Prior thereto, and ever since the Declaration of Independence of the Irish People, on April 22, 1919, by writings and acts of men, I have advocated and taught Republican political principles, and the right of all people to establish and live under a government of their own selection, based upon the consent of the governed, and urged, advocated and taught the doctrine of absolute political freedom for the people of Ireland and all other nations."

"I have been seized and thrown into jail twice since by the military forces of Great Britain."

"My arrests were summary, without warrant; no formal charge was ever lodged against me. I was guilty of no crime; the only reason for my arrest was that I advocated the principles of Republican government."

"Ever since my election to office, and long prior to that I have been pursued by the military, who sought to imprison or kill me, and up to the time of leaving Ireland for the United States, I eluded them by remaining away from my home, business and official post, except at such times as I could surreptitiously appear under guard, to perform the necessary duties of my office and obtain rest and sustenance. For two years last past, I have been unable to sleep more than two consecutive nights in my house on account of my pursuit. Subsequent to my

A PICTURE OF LOVE, LAUGHTER AND ROMANCE

George Behan has never yet been seen to greater advantage than in this new production.

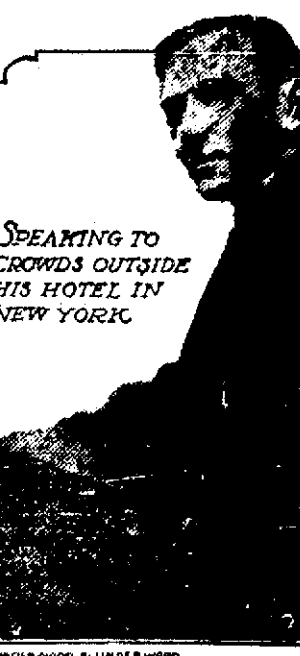

The Lyric Theatre feels that it can not too strongly impress upon its patrons the downright merit of its program starting tomorrow. One great picture and ten a-act attractions make up the amusement menu, and it is entirely possible that a better entertainment spread has never been prepared in Lima than this.

George Behan is some actor and his production "One Man is a Million" is some picture. It is a dramatic page from life with Love, Laughter and Romance featured in the most delightful manner imaginable. Then it is so sweet and human and wholesome. It reaches right down after your heart and finds it, although it may be clear down in your boots. It will touch you in tender spots and make you shed a tear perhaps, and laugh at times and make you a better man or woman for having seen it.

Then there is Harold Lloyd! That king of the screen when it comes to humor. You'll see him tomorrow in "Ask Father" and if you can visit a man like him seeking his girl's father's consent to have him marry his daughter, the you can do more than most folks for it is the funniest sight yet.

But there is still another feature of the program which can not help but entertain you. Prof. Schuster will be there with his accordion and he's a wizard with it. SOME program tomorrow at the Lyric. Please come early and avoid standing.

SPEAKING TO CROWDS OUTSIDE HIS HOTEL IN NEW YORK

re-entrance from Ireland, under proceedings officially and publicly issued by the British military authorities, should I be forced to return to Ireland, any person or persons, who might give me asylum, aid, or shelter or who, knowing my whereabouts, failed to betray me to the British military forces, would be adjudged guilty of an offense punishable by death.

WANTED BY MILITARY
During the time that I was being hunted by the military forces of Great Britain, it is my belief that it was their intention to take my life, shortly before my departure for the United States, the home of a subordinate official of the Cork city government was invaded by members of the British military forces for the avowed purpose of finding me and putting me to death; the members of these forces carried firearms; they assaulted, beat and otherwise maltreated him, in an endeavor to disclose my whereabouts. They told him that if he did not disclose my whereabouts, it was their intention to "mow down" inside of another 12 months all of the people of the County of Cork who favored a republican form of government.

"Two days before I left Ireland for the United States, the British destroyed by fire the City Hall, and destroyed the business places and residences of the citizens of Cork by fire and explosive bombs, the destroyed portion of the city covering an area of more than three acres, and the property destroyed being of an approximate value of more than $2,000,000."

"Prior to my departure from Ireland, I was requested by cable to appear in the United States and testify before the American Commission on Conditions in Ireland, in Washington, D. C. Prior to that time, the public announcement had been made by the British Ambassador to the United States that passports would be issued to witnesses summoned by the commission and that the British government would put no obstacle in the way of the attendance of such witnesses."

"Acting under this authority, and these advice, but believing that if I presented myself in person, to the consular representative of Great Britain, I might be imprisoned or killed, I wrote the consular representative at Dublin in Castle, the British legation in Dublin, requesting a passport to the United States. He sent a letter to me at the City Hall in Cork, which was subsequently conveyed to me, where I was hiding, which letter directed me to apply for my passport to the Clerk of the House of Commons in the City of London. That clerk was at the time surrounded by the military, and I believed that if I did so present myself, that I would be immediately seized and put to death or imprisoned."

"I thereupon departed from Cork on the American steamship West Cumbria for Newport News, Va. I did not disclose my presence on the boat nor was I discovered until it was beyond the three-mile limit."

"When my presence was discovered upon the steamship, I was placed at work as an ordinary seaman, and worked as such until the boat arrived at Newport News, Va. January 4th."

"On January 5th, I was taken before a board of special inquiry, and after a hearing, at which I was unrepresented by counsel, and not permitted to have legal rights in the premises, an order of deportation was entered against me. That order, an appeal to the Department of Labor, was January 15th, after a full hearing, canceled by the Secretary of the Department of Labor. Following this order, I remained in the United States."

"Subsequent to my departure from Ireland, the revolution has increased in intensity, with constantly increasing casualties upon each side, and the seizures, imprisonments, killings, tortures and assaults are still being daily practiced by the military forces of Great Britain."

"On January 21st, I was, in my absence, re-elected Lord Mayor for a new term of one year. Immediately following my re-election, the military attacked the meeting of the councilors who had participated in this election, without warrant or charge being lodged against them, and threw them into prison, where they still remain."

"Subsequently the City and County of Cork have been declared to be under martial law."

"Ever since members of both Houses, as well as the officers of local councils, and other citizens of the Irish Republic, have been seized, vast numbers sent to prison and internment camps, and numbers of officials and citizens of the Irish Republic have been killed upon the highways and put to death in prisons and internment camps."

"Ministers of the Gospel, who were known Republicans, non-combatants, both Catholic and Protestant, have been seized and thrown into prison, and placed in internment, and held incommunicado."

"There is an armed insurrection at the present time throughout the entire territory of Ireland, and daily battles are in actual progress between the military forces of Great Britain and the Republican Army of Ireland."

"Since my departure, the City Halls of cities in Ireland, in which are located the official headquarters of regularly-elected officials, have been frequently seized, sacked and the officials driven forth and captured by the British military forces. I believe and allege the fact to be that if forced to return to Ireland at the present time, my liberty and life will be imperiled, and that the British will imprison or put me to death in Ireland.

The only claim of change which has ever been made against me is for the commission of so-called political offenses, namely, those of being a duly-elected officer of a governing body, or of the people, or teaching and advocating the establishment and functioning of such a form of government, and especially the Republican government of Ireland, as declared for and established by the votes of the people of Ireland.

"In the circumstances, I claim the right of asylum and sanctuary in the United States.

"I urge that I be not deported or compelled to return, at this time, to any place or point where I may be exposed to capture or persecution by the forces of the British government, but that I be permitted to remain unmolested in the United States until such time as the British Army of Occupation leaves my country, or until I can return thereto without peril to my liberty or my life."

HOPE TO DISPEL GAS DEADLOCK

Civic Bodies Seek Adjustment of Fuel Price Difficulty

Officers of the South Side Improvement association and the East Side Improvement association were called into conference Saturday by the Lima Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers' association in building an arbitration plan by which it is hoped the gas problem in Lima will be soon definitely settled. Both those organizations are being asked to aid in the solution.

At 11:45 Saturday the joint gas committees of the Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers' association were in a session, preliminary to a big session at 12 o'clock. Lunchmen when officers of the improvement associations were present as well as the directors of the two organizations which created the original committees. A tentative plan suggested by the joint group to the two boards of directors and immediately following the lunch conference, the two executive boards went into separate executive sessions to consider the plan to break the deadlock between the city and the gas company.

City Council, which met with the gas committee Wednesday night, will be asked to hold a special session at once for consideration of the plan. One of the stipulations of the proposed arbitration move will be that both city council and the Lima Natural Gas company agree on the program before any steps are taken.

It is confidently expected that the Chamber of Commerce directors and the executive committee of the Lima Manufacturers' Association will approve the plan suggested by the committee. It will be put up to committee immediately for discussion by that body.

C. C. Crabbe, author of the prohibition enforcement law, was also a member of the party and addressed the assembly of legislators and local people at the club dinner on law enforcement, state progress and the hopes and aspirations of the present legislature. Crabbe drank (water) a toast to "Cap" Maynard, a Lima man, clerk of the House.

TELL HOSPITAL NEEDS

Dr. Chas. Clark, superintendent of the Lima state hospital, gave a most interesting and enlightening talk on the work being accomplished at the state institution, stating that $42,000 is needed to complete improvements there. Dr. Clark made a plea for the opportunity to provide a means of giving employment to inmates, who are able to read and willing to work.

Vice Chairman Harry Brown of the finance committee, also spoke briefly. Dr. Clark was complimented by members of the committee for the manner in which he is conducting the affairs of the hospital.

James Grubb, vocalist, entertained with pleasingly sung several vocal selections, with Mrs. Grubb at the piano. Miss Autumn Hall, violinist, appearing at the auto show during the week, gave several excellent numbers. A trio of entertainers from the Orpheum theatre assisted in entertaining the visitors.

COUNTY NOW HAS ONLY ONE FERTILIZER PLANT

With the abandonment of the Edleman fertilizer plant a mile east of Lima on the Findlay rd., where dead horses, cows, hogs and dogs have been dumped all winter without being properly cared for, just one plant remains in Allen county where farmers and residents of towns and cities may take their dead animals.

This one is at Spencer, Ohio, and according to Dr. Sutter, county health commissioner, it is located just at the outskirts of Spencer.

Many farmers are considering this situation serious, especially those in the extreme parts of the county, who have no fertilizer plant near to which they may take their animals that die.

The state law provides that farmers may dispose of their own hogs and dogs that die, either by burying or burning them.

STYLES AS ALLURING AS THE BREEZES OF TROPICAL CLIMES

Frocks That Attest Fashion's Approval of Modes for Early Spring—Smart Designs Show Envious Ingenuity in Waistline Treatment—

Graceful Effects Achieved with and without the Familiar Girdle—Soft Silks and Sheer Cottons Fashion Many Beautiful Models—

Embroidery Imposes Its Loveliness on Apparel for All Occasions—Trimmings Exalt Simplicity to a Fine Art

By MAUDE HALL
Keeping with the charm and romance of the tropics, and as alluring as their breezes are the styles for Spring. The leading applicants for Fashion's approval are designed in the spirit of picturesque simplicity and are so planned that they can be reproduced by home dressmakers with the assurance of gratifying success.

Home Dressmaker's Corner

An Acceptable New Skirt with Front Gore Laid in Plaits and Back Gore Gathered in Simple Effect.

A SKIRT that represents high achievement of the dressmaker's art is this simple two-piece model. The front is laid in plaits, while the back gore is gathered below a straight girdle of self-fabric. It is suitable for development in a wide and charming range of fabrics—satin, crepe, silk, pongee, on the back. Medium size requires 2½ yards 36-inch material, with ¾ yard belting 2 inches wide for stay.

The absence of seams in the front and back gores of the skirt make it necessary to lay these sections of the pattern along the lengthwise fold of material so that the triple "TTT" perforations will rest along the fold. If the skirt is desired shorter than shown, cut off the tissue before placing it on the material.

With each section cut and properly notched, the construction will be exceedingly simple for the home dressmaker. First, adjust underfacing to position under extension on front gore, matching notches and corresponding edges. Form backward-turning plaits in front gore, placing "TTT" on corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Join ideas around these handsome materials, but the creations are congenial to reproduction in a variety of fabrics and by no means limited to any particular list. It is one of the fortunate circumstances of fashion, for if the dresses liked best could only be copied in their original materials, very little would be gained by the woman who practices economy by sewing for herself. The main thing is to select fabrics that are supple and easily handled in the achievement of soft and youthful effects.

A frock that responds adorably to the casual requirements of dress, is developed in dark blue foulard silk, combined with charmeuse. The overblouse, which is of the satin, has a deep gathered tunic and is held in at the waist with a deep girdle of foulard to correspond with the foundation. At the sides the tunic is slashed and trimmed with braid and buttons, this trimming being repeated on the waist section of the blouse, either side of the front. There is a deep, narrow opening, disclosing a vest of foulard, but the round neck is collarless. The sleeves are slightly below elbow length, flaring slightly.

Creators of smart fashions have devoted much attention to the treatment of the waistline, as has been previously mentioned in this correspondence. Always it is posed below normal, if there is such a frequently it is entirely ignored, as in the princess effects which are constantly growing in favor. For the woman of attractive figure there comes a lovely line model in dark blue pussywillow tulle. It closes at the left side and is gathered at the underarm edges to form a draped effect front and back. There is no suggestion of restricting band at the waist. Below the hips the skirt is laid in plaits and tiny panels of silver ribbon are introduced. Collar and vest are of the same ribbon, a touch of embroidery being added to the vest and outer collar. The trimming, though simple in effect, is very artistic and developed in such well-known style that no extended experience in needlework is required to reproduce it. This same model is also extremely effective developed in black charmeuse satin with embroidery in gold thread and black silk. As to the attesting versatility of the design, it may be stated that it is likewise interesting in dark blue, rose or lavender mercerized linen, with collar and pocketettes of organdy and embroidery in mercerized cotton.

Oriental effects are featured in some of the prettiest embroideries of Spring and Summer frocks. Superlatively smart is a dress in Burgundy charmeuse with the entire front cut in panel effect. About the round neck, sides and lower edge of the skirt is an embroidery pattern, worked entirely in darning stitch in dull orange, faded scarlet and sapphire blue silk. The color combination is so unusual that it instantly wins the admiration of discriminating women, yet the dress can be carried out in a wide variety of tubular and non-tubular materials. The neck is round and collarless and the front is slightly cut away to reveal a vest, if desired. With such a model, one can achieve an air of continual freshness by changing the neck arrangement, adding a vest with high collar, or simply a vest without the collar. The open front may be held together at the top, or the ends may be turned back to form tiny revers, as another bit of variation.

The sheer cottons are favored for the draped effects and are usually combined with some other material. There comes, for instance, a lovely tropical frock in pale blue organdy with figures of orange red and dark blue. It closes on the left shoulder, being built upon a foundation of dark blue tulle. The front foundation gore is attached to the underbody, the outer front being laid in plaits at the sides and finished to hang in jalousie drapery. The fullness of the waist is held in with a bias band of tulle tied in an informal bow at the side. Lace is used for the vest and collar, but the revers are of tulle. Such a frock is a true gem for afternoon or semi-evening wear.

Simplicity lends charm to a model in white voile of fine quality, and there is an intermingling of the seasons in its decoration. The dress closes at the left of an inset vest of lace, the top of the vest being cut in round outline. There are side panels gathered and attached to the dress below the waistline. Tiny bands of fur outline the front panel, the short sleeves and girdle of self-material. These, however, are easily replaced with accordion plaited ribbon or braid, though it is predicted that fur trimmings will be used on sheer materials as furs will be worn during the warm season, as was the fashion for the past two years.

Pastel shades are conspicuously featured in the new silks and cottons. Trimmings are Oriental in their scheme and there will be seen a great deal of orange red, the deep, rich shades of blue and green, henna, the more vivid yellows and high browns. Silks and cottons are employed not only in the development of dresses and blouses, but in wraps. Blouses are exceptionally sheer, and, as a rule, hand-made. Sweaters are as brilliant as tropical flowers and among the accessories one finds irresistible novelties in shoes, parasols, bags, etc. In fact, it seems that more than ever has genius devoted itself to the task of giving charm and originality to the well-dressed woman.

Next, adjust stay to position underneath skirt with upper edges even. Bring large "o" perforations in stay to center-front, double small "o" perforation to center-back and single small "o" perforation to the edge of lap on front gore on right side. Bring left side edges of stay to the edges of opening in skirt. Stitch upper edges of skirt and stay together.

Join edges of belt, matching notches. Open the belt, keeping seam in center on the under side and press. Arrange around the waist with upper edge of belt a little above the top of the skirt, center-backs even. Lap ends, matching small "o" perforations.

The Care of a Piano

Keep your piano free from dust. Do not allow needles, pins, etc., to be placed upon it, especially if the keyboard is exposed, as such articles are apt to get inside and cause a metallic rattle or whizzing sound.

BIRDS FIGURE ATTRACTIVELY IN EMBROIDERIES

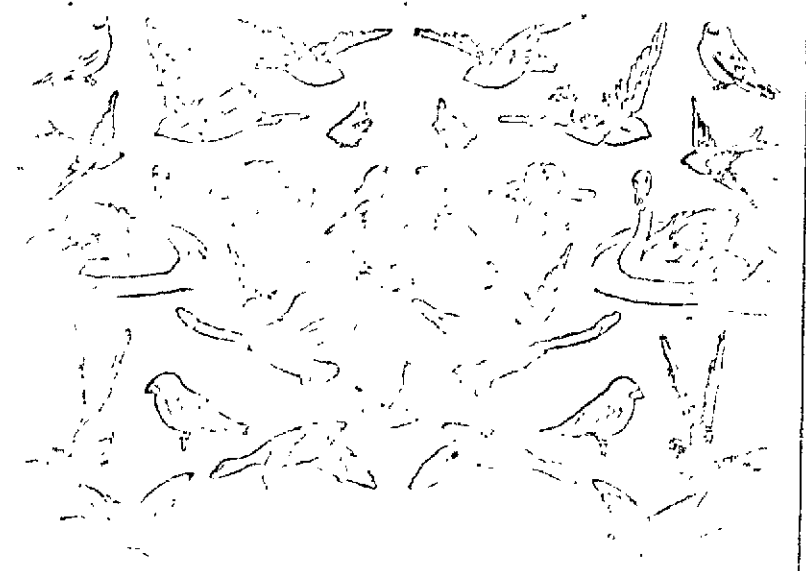

They Make Adorable Decorations for Household Linens or Novelties for Children.

By KATHRYN MUTTLER

SO many beautiful effects may be obtained with bird motifs, that they have formed an important chapter in the history of needlework since the beginning of the art. Aside from the opportunity to produce beautiful color effects, a great deal of sentiment attaches to the bird as an embroidery design and it has always been a favorite in the decoration make the motif a work of art by the time it is completed.

The long-and-short stitch, which is pretty for embroidering birds' wings in particular, is a composition of one long stitch alternating with two short stitches. For designs which outline or fancy stitches will not define, long-and-short stitch in the medium with which the desired effect is obtained. It is one

Even in the forms of needlework—such as felt, crocheted, and others—are conspicuously featured. There are so many different ways in which the happy little creature may be placed that the possibilities for variety are almost infinite.

There are thirty bird designs in the pattern shown here. The largest is 14 inches wide, making it suitable for the decoration of a scarf, pillow, baby carriage robe, pillow cover or towel. The smallest is 1½ inches wide and is appropriate for embroidery on handkerchiefs, baby bibs, baby aprons, etc.

Included in the design are two pairs of swans 5½ inches wide. The chain stitch, so called, resembles the links of a chain. Each stitch is formed by inserting the needle in the first loop made, and bringing it out a little lower than where it went in. Bring the needle up from the wrong side, hold the thread down with the left thumb, put the needle back into the hole it came from, and bring out again about an eighth of an inch to the left. This stitch is unusually effective on play-aprons.

Lemon So uffle

Grease a tubule of scuff mold, tie a band of greased paper round the outside, coming two inches above the top. This prevents the pudding running over while cooking. Melt two table-spoons of butter in a saucepan, stir in four table-spoons of flour, add one-half cup of milk, beat until thickened and becomes a smooth paste and leave the side of the sauce pan. Grate the rind from one lemon, add the juice of the lemon, ½ cup of sugar and two table-spoons of oil, stir in the whole of the paste, to a stiff froth, and mix them all at once. Over this mixture, into the prepared mold, and steam slowly for forty minutes. Turn out on to a hot cloth and serve at once with sweet sauce or fruit milk.

SPENCERVILLE TROUNCED BY SCIO—GOMER ONLY PILES UP FOUR POINTS AGAINST LINCOLN OF CLEVELAND, WHILE SOUTH LOSES TO SHAW

TURF RACE BETTING IN CANADA UPHELD BY HIGH COURTS

TORONTO, Ont.—The provincial government lacks power to enact legislation to prohibit betting on the race tracks of Ontario. This decision was handed down today by the Second division of the Appellate court of Ontario in connection with a recent application relating to pari-mutuels.

Justice Riddell cast the only dissenting vote, but made no minority report.

Justice Middleton characterized the attempt of the province of Ontario to legislate race track betting as an attempt to "trespass upon a forbidden field"—that of legislation which preserves for the Dominion of Canada.

"To the Dominion," he said, "has been given exclusive jurisdiction over criminal law. It alone can define crime and enumerate the acts which are to be prohibited and punished in the interests of public morality."

Justice Leacock concurred in his opinion.

SOME HI SPOTS IN SPORT

An Australian "Heavy of Promise" Sporting writers in Australia are hoping that Jim Roland, a new heavyweight novice, advances as much in the future as he has in the past.

Roland, whose real name is Pwyer, has won three or four contests down there and has shown great promise. Billy Shade watched him at a benefit performance one evening recently and was favorably impressed with the big fellow's work.

It would stimulate boxing greatly if Australia could step out with a first-class heavyweight a year or so from now. They haven't had one since they gave away watches with boys' suits, and you know that was many years ago.

A fellow had to skip quite a bunch of years before he can name the day that a good Australian heavy set his foot upon these shores.

They sent us the cream of the crop seven or eight years ago, but the cream was cream cheese. Bill Squires and Bill Lang were the two canyons we pined at.

Before that they sent over a boatload that will never be forgotten.

That party consisted of Peter Jackson, Bob Fitzsimmons, Frank Slavin, Joe Goddard (the barrier champion), and Jim Hall.

Australia has, of course, always had little men who were masters of the padded mitts, but we haven't seen a star in any of the smaller classes lately either.

Low Edwards came over here and was knocked kicking by Ritchie Mitchell. He was looked upon as a world-beater, at that.

Too bad they can't dig up some of the birds that we saw in the 90's, such as George Dawson, Billy Murphy, Young Griffo and Abe Willis.

Criqui Using the Rabbit Punch Below is a clipping from the Sydney Referee. You will notice that the sporting editor, W. F. Corbett (W. F. C.) comments on the rabbit punch:

Jack Feneley penned this: Leading your comment re Jack Green's defeat at the hands of Criqui thru terrific uppercuts and jolts to the head, justifies my reminding you of Vince Blackburn's exhibition with Criqui. Cannot grasp what our boxers are so impetuous in boring in against Criqui. He, using good tact, does very little leading. A strict referee should put him up on the rabbit-kicking punches he uses in close work.

Why? The blow is not barred—W. F. C. Godfrey, with his long leads, should gauge Criqui's powers. He is the only one with a chance, and a punch in the early rounds to drop the great French fighter. If Jerry Sullivan boxes Criqui and steps out in mix-ups, he will win on points. All the French contingent are great exponents in close quarters, and worthy of the titles they hold.

"LINGER LONGER LETTY" SOUNDS MUSICAL

Very Appropriate, For It's a Musical Comedy of Latest Production

Theatre Directory Discloses Good Line of Attractions for Saturday

OLIVER MOROSCO will present Charlotte Greenwood, the well known comedienne, in her new musical comedy, "Linger Longer Letty," (entirely different from her former success, "So Long Letty") at the Faurot next Monday night.

"Linger Longer Letty" was written by Anne Nichols. The story concerns Letty, a content but ugly duckling, who is called upon by the members of her family to do everything from making ice-cream to trying her father's neckties, but when it comes to parties and beaux, Letty is side-tracked by her sisters as a modern Cinderella. Finally Letty rebels with Jim, her sweetheart, who is also an ugly duckling, she stages a transformation scene and she and Jim become the most desired partners at all the dances. With their transformation, Letty and Jim realize that they love each other instead of the objects of their earlier desires.

Charlotte Greenwood has a way of saying and doing things that appeals irresistibly to the audience and uproarious laughter invariably follows. Miss Greenwood is supported by an excellent company, a well drilled chorus in brilliant costumes, and attractive stage settings add to the success of the play.

Mr. Morosco is sending the company and production from the Fulton Theatre and it will be seen in Lima exactly as it was presented in New York City.

CENTRAL UNABLE TO CONNECT WITH BASKET; LOSE 12 TO 19

(BY BILL CUNNINGHAM)

(Lima News Staff Correspondent)

DELAWARE—The first day of the state high school basketball tournament here saw all four of the teams from Lima and Allen-co go down to defeat.

Central Hi was defeated by East Tech, Cleveland, 19 to 13. South Hi was defeated by Shaw, Cleveland, 22 to 9.

Spencerville was defeated by Scio, 18 to 6. Gomer was defeated by Lincoln, Cleveland, 14 to 4.

It was indeed a poor showing, and Central's trouncing deals a blow to fans here that will be felt the rest of the season. Their defeat is blamed on the players being unable to connect with the baskets. Time and again they tossed the ball for the hoop, only to have it roll around the brim of the basket and drop off.

PLAY A RIP ROARING GAME

Central played a rip roaring game and fans here generally say that the Lima team outplayed the Clevelanders in all stages of the game except for their being unable to hit the baskets.

Thir passing was the best that has been seen so far in the tournament. Central lined up with Dille and Lutz playing at the forward positions, Capt. Laughlin, center, and Devoe and James, guards. Laughlin led the locals in scoring, connecting with the basket twice for field goals. Lutz and James had one each to their credit when the final whistle blew. Devoe tossed in three foul goals.

South's early defeat can be blamed on the absence of Capt. Brookhardt, who has been unable to play basketball since receiving an injury to his knee in the St. Mars game here several weeks ago.

Spencerville played a rough game against Scio, but seemed as off as Central when it came to hitting the baskets. Gomer was clearly outplayed by Lincoln, Cleveland, which may be attributed to the more husky players on Lincoln's line-up.
